REST.

BY FATHER RYAN.

My feet are wearied and my hands are tired—
My soul oppressed.
And with desire have I long desired
Rest—only rest.
Tis hard to till, when toil is almost vain,
In barren ways.
Tis hard to sow, and never garner grain
In harvest days.
The burden of my days is hard to bear,
But God knows best.
And I have prayed, but vain has been my prayer;
For rest, sweet rest.
Tis hard to plant in spring and never reap.
The autumn yield;
Tis hard to till, when 'tis hard to weep.
Our fruitless field.
And so I cry, a weari and human cry,
So heavily oppressed;
And so I sigh a weari and human sigh
For rest—for rest.
My way has wound across the desert years
And ears infest;
My path, and through the flowing of hot tears
I pine for rest.
Twas always set when still a child I laid
On mother's breast.
My weary little feet—I then I prayed,
As now, for rest.
And I am restless still; 'twll soon be o'er;
Far down the west
Life's sun is setting, and I see the shore
Where I shall rest.

Cured of Spasms.

I am well and happy again, says our fair correspondent, Miss Jennie P. Warren, 740 W. Van Buren St., Chicago, Ill., your Samaritan Nervine cured me of spasms.

ADDRESS OF COL. J. STODDARD JOHNSON

"Before the Teachers' Institute of Carroll County. Delivered at Carrollton Aug. 16, '83.

The school statistics of other states show that the system is most flourishing—not where the per capita from the State is largest, but where each district contributes the most. While the State per capita in Kentucky is $140, in Massachusetts it is but 45 cents, but the sums contributed by the districts and raised by local taxation amounts to $14.23 per child. In New York the State per capita is $178, while that of the district is $4.94. In Pennsylvania the State per capita is 73 cents and the districts $5.14. In Illinois, the State is $1.58, and the district, $5.67, and so on; but in all where the common school system is successful, the State contribution is merely an incident, while the principal support of the schools comes from local taxation. It would do more. It would enable you to pay your teachers $50 per month, and to provide in time, by judicious application of the remainder, comfortable school-houses for all your districts. I do not wish to be understood as being here to advocate an increase of your taxes. It is a delicate subject in every community, and it is like most kinds of advice, better to give than receive. But I do desire to impress it upon every community—first that money invested in schools is the best investment we can make for ourselves and our children; second, that you cannot have good schools without money; and third, that you cannot devise a cheaper or better system of schools, even at the ratio of local to State taxation, in every community, and it is like most kinds of advice, better to give than receive. PERSONALS.

Persons in town having visitors or any other item they would like in this column would confer a favor if they would inform this office. The town is not very large, but one hand can't get all over it every day and run a newspaper.

Persons visiting in town not seeing personal mention of themselves must remember the one they are stopping with did not feel interest enough in them to report at this office.

Mr. Pres. Taylor, of Taylorsville, was in town Monday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Short left last Saturday for Falls of Rough.

Miss Lilia Baird left for Louisville last Friday to attend the Exposition.

Mr. Willis Shurtliff returned Saturday from a visit to relatives at Falls of Rough.

Mrs. Mattie Rowe, of Greenville, visited the family of W. S. Barrett the past week.

Mr. Ion Davis has been in town for a few days past, and will leave this week for Kansas.

Mr. Thos. Queen, the whisky missionary representing Geo. D. Mattingly & Co., Owensboro, is in town.

Dr. Amos Davis and wife, of Pleasant Ridge, were visiting relatives here Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. N. Howlett and Mrs. Q. B. Coleman, of South Carrollton, are visiting Dr. Coleman's family.

Mr. W. S. Anderson returned home after an absence of several weeks in the eastern cities, last Saturday.

R. A. Marshal, commercial agent representing John T. Steier, cigar manufacturer, Louisville, was here yesterday.

Mr. W. J. White, of Cleopatra, McLean county, has located at McHenry, temporarily to attend Mr. L. P. Loney's school.

John Slaton, of Hardsburg, the boss chum man, accompanied by James D. Pennington, are guests of the Hartford House.

Dr. Coleman will preach the funeral of Stephen S. Taylor on the fifth Sunday in this month at Staty Creek church.

Mr. C. W. Wilhoite, of the firm of R. McJohnston & Co., wholesale grocers, Owensboro, is in the city in the interest of his firm.

Robert Forrester, of Glasgow, has been visiting the family of D. F. Cawthon for a few weeks past, and left for home last Saturday.

Mrs. Mansfield Howe and daughters, of Greenville, were visiting friends and relatives here during the past week, and left for home Monday.

Mr. Wm. Shull and family, of Cromwell, have moved to Hartford and are occupying the dwelling belonging to Mr. McIntyre. We gladly welcome them to our town.

Mr. E. C. Hubbard and family returned home last Saturday after a month's absence. Mr. Hubbard was quite sick with bilious fever while absent, but is much better now.

Miss E. Belle Taylor, formerly music teacher of Hartford College, has returned and is in charge of the same department. She is an excellent teacher and quite popular here. Hartford College is to be congratulated for having secured her to our town.

Mr. G. W. Short, of this place, left last Saturday to take charge of the school at Central City. The citizens of that place should congratulate themselves upon securing the services of a young man so well qualified as a teacher and gentleman.

Mrs. Rachel Bell, one of the oldest ladies in the county, was in to see us yesterday. She gets about as spry as most ladies of fifty. She recently visited a daughter living in Indiana, and stood the trip very well. She says she enjoyed the travel very much.

NEW.—Just received at Z.A. Rosenberg's, dry goods, boots, shoes, hats, notions and furnishing goods. These goods will be sold extra cheap. Call and convince yourselves of it. Special LOW price on clothing.

The other day we called on Mr. Thos. Gillstrap, proprietor of the Ex-Emporium, Cromwell, Ky., and was shown through the most mammoth building in the county. Having extended the vast throng of customers that must necessarily be served in their turn. They have choicest of the stools, rocking chairs and sofa lounges down to the reclining chair. So you see he has elegance and luxury combined. Mr. Gillstrap is one of the most elegant and refined gentlemen we ever met. He is young, handsome—but privately, girls, he is not married, but wishes to be.

There is a fire raging near Hartford, in Williams Bros' brick kiln.

Mr. James Porter, living near Barrett's Ferry, died Friday of kidney disease. He was eighty-five years of age, and was an industrious, worthy citizen.

Jacob Martin had a fistcluff on the street corner, near Small's Trade Palace, Monday. Martin had Schroeder down choking him pretty lively when they were separated. They were arrested, and their trial set for Saturday.

for one of the finest watermelons of the season.

—John C. Doyle has been appointed Deputy Marshal of Hartford, and says he intends to preserve good order.

—Little Misses Katie and Ruth Coombs brought us a basket of large, choice pears, for which they have our thanks.

—Corinne Cox, a wee Miss, presented us on a rose-tinted shell salver, a half dozen fresh Florida lemons which we converted into lemonade and enjoyed several glasses of the delightful beverage. Corinne is our little sweet-heart.

—Prof. W. B. Hayward, one of the best educators in Kentucky, a man who has educated and trained many of the prominent men of the State, a man who is the peer of any educator anywhere, has been added to the faculty of Hartford College. He will have charge of the department of "Theory and Practice of Teaching," and is the right man in the right place.

—We are at Williams Bros. last week when they opened their fine display of guns. They can furnish a person anything in the gun line, from a single-barrel shot-gun to a double-barrel breach-loader. Give them a call.

—Plain drunks are such a rarity in Owensboro now-a-days that the city marshal barely realizes $20 per month out of his office, which one year ago yielded from $75 to $100.

—No part of the New American No.

7 Sewing Machine, makes more than one revolution to the stitch, and all wearing parts can be taken up to latest improved mode of remedying lost motion.

—The new wheel factory at Owenses-boro temporarily suspended work last week on account of the drunkenness of the foreman. We learn the new man is again employed, and the factory is again in full operation.

—The new wheel factory at Owenses-boro is also for sale. Call at the stable, or address me at Nelson Ky. T. L. ROLL.

—Mrs. Susan Taylor, widow of Rev.
R. C. Taylor, of Cromwell, predeceased, died last Wednesday morning of old age and infirmity. She was a native of the county and had lived here all her life. Her maiden name was Leach.

—James A. Hines and Miss Mattie Gidcomb have been devoted lovers for quite a while, but were under age, and cruel parents objected. They arranged to elope for that Gretna Green, Hoosierland, but were overtaken and brought back. The cruel parents relented and let them marry at home last Monday night after their return. May they live happy and prosper is the wish of the HERALD folks.

—The miners at the coal mines on the C. O. & W. railroad struck last Saturday for higher wages. They were promised three cents per bushel on Oct.
1st, but they struck for three cents then. They have been getting 21-2 cents during the summer months, and heretofore have been getting 3 cents on and after September 1st. We regret strikes in general, as they prove detrimental to employers and employees, but we are not advised as to who is to blame in this instance.

—James A. Foole, George H. Barnes.

—While in Cromwell last week we had the pleasure of stopping at the Til-ford House, one of the best hotels in the Green river country. That prince of urban and obliging young gentlemen, Mr. J. Will Cooper, is proprietor. His estimable wife and charming little daughter Tommy contribute much to the pleasure of their guests.

—When a Sewing Machine will do ordinary sewing with a No. 60 thread for a band, the doctors will let up on their protest against sewing machines, for ladies can run such a machine with one foot and thus avoid that everlasting hopping motion about which the doctors justly complain. Indeed we think the doctors will prescribe the New American No. 7 for—possibly—well it may be many diseases.

—Jacob Martin was before the County Court Monday, on a charge of bastardy and was found guilty and assessed to pay $50 a year for ten years. He failed to give bond to perform the judgment of the court and was placed in jail.
One of the meanest things a man can be guilty of is to gain a loving, affectionate woman's confidence and then betray her and if left to us we would make such a crime felony.

—Two gentlemen from one of the rural precincts of the county, came to town Sunday evening and put up at the Hartford House. After supper while perambulating around town, dark and the influence of a happy family and the sweet music from the feathered songsters combine to make you forget the vexations and cares of an office life, and we are loath to be aroused from our delicious dream to go back to work.
Miss Tennie, an only daughter, is pleasant, social and domestic, while her little brother is one of the most many little fellows. Mr. and Mrs.
Poyner will please accept our sincere thanks for their many and appreciated visits.

—NEW.—Just received at hats, notions and furnishing goods. These goods will be sold extra cheap. Call and ford, in Williams Bros' brick kiln.

—Mr. James Porter, living near Barrett's Ferry, died Friday of kidney disease. He was eighty-five years of age, and was an industrious, worthy citizen.

—Jacob Martin had a fistcluff on the street corner, near Small's Trade Palace, Monday. Martin had Schroeder down choking him pretty lively when they were trial set for Saturday.

Social at Mrs. S. W. Anderson's
Thursday night. All are invited.

Rid Halen & Co. have about secured two more counties to their already extensive territory, for the New American No. 7 Sewing Machine.

—Mr. Bir, postmaster at Beaver Dam, is an obliging, polite gentleman, and the citizens should congratulate themselves upon so efficient an officer.

—Mr. H. B. Taylor, formerly of the Red Front, has accepted a position in the dry goods store of H. B. Taylor & Co., formerly the store of V. P. Addington, recently deceased.

—We know our readers will thank us for calling their attention to the Demarest hotel, Cincinnati, should they ever visit that city. It is not only very nice, but cheap.

—A couple of coons indulged in a first-skull encounter on Union street Monday afternoon, and for a period of several minutes the air was thick with profanity and wool.

—Prof. E. M. Coleman, a native of this county and for some time past connected with West Kentucky College, has accepted the principalship of the Seminary at Liberty Hill, Texas.

—Ten negroes were sent to the penitentiary from Muhlenberg county, at their recent Circuit court. If accounts of illegal voting be true, a few more will be sent up soon.

—The election in Hartford last Saturday for Town and School Trustees, resulted in the selection of the following board: H. D. McHenry, Thos. J.
Smith, R. P. Rose, D. L. Smith, J. M.
Klein, L. F. Woerner and G. J. Bean.

—Wm. Irwin, ex-superintendent of Muhlenberg county, and a prominent merchant of Greenville, died at his home last week, from the effects of injuries received from highwaymen some six years ago.

—Corinne Cox, a wee Miss, presented
